Noted Surgeon Declares Good Water Vital To Public Health

Dr. William J. Mayo, one of the most noted surgeons the world has ever known, recently made the following statements regarding health and longer life:

"Longevity is much a matter of building up body resistance. The average span of life in the time of Queen Elizabeth was twenty years—a point where now fifty years is the average expectancy. That is the time when in the average man, degenerative diseases have developed and hastened his end.

"Kidneys Are 'Discovered'"

"Good water has played a tremendous important part in the betterment of the public health in the United States, which has shown marked improvement each year."

Science, for many years, tried to free humanity from prevalent diseases by inuring into every organ of the body except the kidneys. Finally it turned its attention to these vital organs when there was found evidence of this being one of the major seats of trouble. Medical authority says that 75% of our ailments are carried off through the kidneys.

As proof of this, it cites the fact that if the kidneys fail to do their work for even a short time, the great amount of waste which should have been eliminated will accumulate and poison every organ in the body.

Water Lightens Load

Thus the kidney cells, because of their delicate mechanism and because of this constant strain of elimination, are often the first to break down, far comparatively few of us take normal care of them.

In the excess vitality of youth, these cells repair themselves. But after 40, six out of ten men and women show evidence of kidney disturbance in some form. Yet very few have any knowledge of it, for there are no warning symptoms.

Water lightens the load of kidneys by diluting poisonous waste, absorbing and carrying it off. It helps to protect kidneys against excessive strain, and lengthens their life of normal functioning.

Ordinary water, doctors agree, is not so effective as distilled water. In these results, because of minerals the former contains. These minerals are deposited in the kidneys, adding further to congestion. For this reason, doctors prescribe distilled, mineral-free water, to flush the kidneys in the most efficient way without adding further to their burden.

To prevent damage to kidneys from the wear and tear of life, it is apparent that we should pay particular attention to the quality of water we drink. It is easy to see that after 40 this may be much more important than the quality of the food we eat, in the maintenance of health.

We are furnished on every day with conflicting advice about diet, while we thoughtlessly drink any and all kinds of water, regardless of merit. It were far better to reverse this, not pampering normal stomachs with invalid diets, but building health cells with the help of pure distilled water.

At the Puritas Laboratory in Los Angeles, water from melted snows of Southern California's mountains is scientifically distilled. All minerals and impurities are removed. Then it is fully aerated with electrically created ozone, nature's greatest purifier. By constant chemical analysis, Puritas always tests mineral-free, impurity-free. It is drinking water in its cleanest, most healthful form, medical authorities agree.

Tubbs Says He Tells Truth of "Dry" Question

Talant Tubbs, Republican candidate for lieutenant-governor, is making a whirlwind campaign in Southern California. Reports received by his headquarters in San Francisco indicate that the candidate is making a good impression.

"I am trying to conduct a clean campaign," Tubbs informed his San Francisco campaign manager, "and I will stick to that course until the people register their choice in the August primaries."

"I am telling the truth about prohibition. While no other candidate has thus far seen fit to come out into the open, I shall discuss this vexatious question frankly and fearlessly. I do not believe the people of California are at all satisfied with the farce we call prohibition. I say that despite the attitude of Dr. Arthur W. Briggs and his Anti-Saloon League of California, it is high time Dr. Briggs and his cohorts be driven out of California politics."
